

Welcome from the Chair of the Stanford Association of Tourism and Business

Wow – we did it! It was just eight short, and frantic, weeks ago that Grootbos shared with us their intention to replicate in Stanford the award-winning fynbos exhibit from this year's RHS Chelsea Flower Show.

With the support and assistance of numerous organisations and individuals, this historic and charming village has worked tirelessly to create a festival that justly compliments the efforts of the Grootbos team.

I hope you will marvel at their magnificent display, be enthralled by the art in the Florilegium and be charmed by your experience of Stanford in Bloom and its bouquet of offerings.

It is our hope that this celebration will join our Starry Nights extravaganza as part of Stanford's calendar. And that you – and thousands of others – will join us to share in our village's special magic.

I am amazed and appreciative of those who have worked to make Stanford in Bloom a reality. To the Stanford Business Chamber's management committee goes a special thank you for accepting the challenge without question. A Special Mention for Michael Lutzeyer and Phil Murray and their team at Grootbos, I hope we helped in the creation of your vision. My thanks to Cape Whale Coast Tourism, and particularly their team in the Stanford Visitor Information Centre. And, of course, to Stanfordians in general. Without your enthusiasm and energy this page might never have been written.

Please enjoy your visit to our historic village as we Celebrate our Floral Heritage here at the centre of the Fynbos Kingdom.

A note from our friends at the Grootbos Foundation:

Not only is the "Chelsea Flowers in Stanford" exhibit bringing the very best of South African floral displays and botanical art to the Overberg village of Stanford, the profits from ticket sales will go straight to the community programmes and youth development of Grootbos Foundation, a local Non Profit Company (2003/014519/08). Grootbos Foundation has served the community by providing free skills training, sports, lifeskills, feeding schemes, enterprise development and landscape conservation in the area surrounding Grootbos Private Nature Reserve between Gansbaai and Stanford since 2003.

MAANSCHIJN

Maanschijn is an artisanal wine producer located in the Walker Bay district. The winemaking duo, Doug and Paul, craft low-intervention wines from windswept, maritime and fynbos-lined vineyards around the towns of Hermanus and Stanford. Their two ranges of wines, the Herbarium Collection and Brunch Club, seek to showcase the cooler-climate origins through their modern outlook.

Where: Oom Steyn's pub at the Stanford Hotel along with the other Stanford Wine Route members. The doors to our tasting room will also be open during the same period, and we will offer picnics and cheese platters, along with wine tasting, for any guests which would like to visit us at our Maanschijn Wine Garden and Cellar at Stonefields farm on the Lagoon Road/R43 halfway between Hermanus and Stanford

SPICE BANGALÔ

In a mythical land of black peppered sea breezes, woody vineyards of sweet cinnamon, protected by vast mountains of smoky black cardamom & earthy nutmeg, there is a bay. It is here where once a year calving whales in exquisite sunset tones of kashmiri chilli gather, protected by large underwater forests of scented bay trees gently perfuming the deep blue. A moonlit liquorice night sky ablaze with dancing star anise hovers above celebrating new life.

In this world of mystique, scent, flavour & beauty Spice Bangalô exists, a 'spicery' based in the Overberg offering the unusual, the unique in spices, spice blends, spice related food products & gifts.

PETAL POETRY & POTIONS

5

Petal Poetry is a creative collaboration between my mother and I (Michelle). We have combined our skills in art, craft, design, print, photography and upcycling to bring you a themed range for the Stanford in Bloom Festival. Materials and service providers are locally sourced, and our helpers are all from Stanford. Petal Potions are created by petal whisperer Jilly, who creates luxurious travel sized creams, serums and other wonderful self care products. All products are available for wholesale trade to retailers with their branding and new themes can be designed.

REVIVED

Revived is located at 14 Queen Victoria Street, directly opposite the muni building. We specialise in mid-century furniture. We will also be getting creative for the flower show, and there will be hand-made proteas, made from empty mussel shells, creating work for locals. The proteas retail at R475 a stem, and you may just never need to buy proteas ever again.

For the duration of the show there will also be a pop-up biltong shop, selling a choice variety of biltong. We will trade every day through the show from 10am in the morning to 6pm in the evening.

WHALE COAST CONSERVATION

17

The Mill Stream Project is a community river/wetland rehabilitation project taking place in Stanford managed by Whale Coast Conservation. The endangered Western Leopard Toad is resident in this catchment. Studies identified that the Mill Stream has been damaged through various historic activities and that the water is polluted. Substantial work is required to restore the stream to let it flow freely again and to improve water quality. Whale Conservation hosts local Stanford youth in this project through a tourism learnership programme. Various items will be on sale to raise funds for the project.

Find out more of the Mill Stream and the project by joining a short tour with us.

HONEYBEE HEROES

Discover the unique and varied flavours of raw South African honey with Honeybee Heroes, a registered non-profit organisation based in Stanford. Dedicated to conserving the Cape honeybee (Apis mellifera capensis) and improving lives through beekeeping, we empower women and youth from underprivileged communities while creating sustainable, accessible opportunities for South Africans to engage with their environment. Explore how this vital pollinator supports both local communities and the broader ecosystem.

We will be hosting pop-ups at select restaurants and stores in the village throughout the flower show. Join us for honey tastings and learn about the importance of our unique Cape honeybee and the diverse, distinctive flavours of South African honey.

Entry is free, but feel free to contact us at info@honeybeeheroes.com or +27 76 242 3276 for more information.

JO DE VILLIERS

1

Jo is a local artist living in Stanford over the lifetime of a few donkeys. Her passion for nature guided her to qualify as a fynbos and birding specialist at Grootbos Private Nature Reserve. Jo is also known as a great storyteller and the local queen of fynbos. Her fynbos jewelry is fire swept flowerheads that has been selectively chosen and worked with attention to detail. Although similar, her artistic skill brings out the uniqueness of each piece. Jo also paints in a variety of mediums and does not use any traditional tools to do so. She paints with a burnt protea seed pod. Jo was also a finalist in the 2023 Sasol New Signatures National Art Competition.

MICHELE NIGRINI ART

Well known artist Michèle Nigrini has recently made the picturesque village of Stanford her new home, relocating from Rosendal. Embracing this fresh chapter in her artistic journey, Nigrini has opened a new exhibition space in the heart of Stanford, on 14 Queen Victoria St.

'Michele Nigrini Art' is a small and intimate setting where art enthusiasts can experience Nigrini's unique creations, including paintings made of and with fynbos – not only are the plants the subject of some of the work, but she has also used dried protea flowers and other fynbos collected from the beautiful biomes around the village as 'brushes', to make her marks. The artist's signature style of 'gestural expressionism', characterized by bold colours and dynamic compositions, is beautifully showcased in this thoughtfully curated venue.

Original paintings as well as prints and cards will be available.

Visitors are welcome to explore the exhibition from 10.00 to 16.00 for the duration of Stanford in Bloom or contact Michèle Nigrini after hours at 0824231970.

Exhibition of Tree Ring Plants: Raising Awareness

Regenerative SPACE is a Non-profit company operating in the Overberg region of the Western Cape, clearing Invasive Alien Plants and utilizing the biomass to create products that are sold to fund the clearing, rehabilitation and restoration of the natural Fynbos biome.

An exhibition of tree ring prints from Invasive Pine (Pinus Pinaster) will be on display at In the End, 25 Church street. This exhibition helps to raise awareness about the work that we are doing and generate further funds for clearing and restoration. We want to honour the beauty of the tree.

The exhibition will be up for the full duration of the event. Prints will be sent to buyers after the event.
